The first house on the south of Md. Route 282 west of Cecilton is of telescopic plan. The largest part is of brick and is three bays wide and one room deep. The facade is laid in Flemish bond and the rest in common bond. There is a heavy brick cornice and a single brick course on the back at second floor level. The 6/6 windows have panelled shutters on the first floor only. The door has a transom and has a pedimented porch. There are two segmentally arched dormer windows with fluted pilasters. The second part of the house is a two story and attic frame building covered with beaded clapboard and has a steeply pitched "A" roof. It is two bays wide, but has a door between the two windows, on the first floor. The door and windows are trimmed with ovolo and bead moldings.
The shutters on both floors are panelled. The third part is two stories and frame with traces of beaded clapboard on each side. Originally it was 1 & 1/2 story. The latter part is off-set from the other two parts of the house.

Behind the house is a small log out-building with delicate strap hinges.
